Water storage is serious business in Australia, especially in regions where rainfall is unpredictable and dry spells can stretch for months. FSP Oz Products offers a range of plastic Oz Tanks built tough enough to handle those conditions, giving homes, farms, and worksites a dependable water supply they can count on. Rain doesn't fall often in many parts of Australia. A good water tank on your property helps you stay prepared.

What Makes Oz Tanks the Right Choice for Australian Conditions

Australia's climate can be punishing. High UV exposure, extreme heat, and the constant demand for clean stored water mean that a tank has to be built right from the start. Oz Tanks by FSP Oz Products are moulded in a single piece from heavy duty polyethylene, which means no joints, no weak points, and no leaks. All our tanks are food-grade, so you can use them to store drinking water or for farm and property use.

- Made from virgin heavy duty polyethylene, no recycled or reconstituted materials used
- Ribbed walls that reinforce the structure and stop bulging
- UV-stabilised to handle Australia's harsh sun without cracking or fading
- Four optional overflow positions for flexible installation
- Blocks out light to stop algae growth inside the tank
- Comes with a mosquito-proof overflow and leaf strainer
- Compliant with Australian Standards AS/NZS4766, AS 2070, and AS 4020 for drinking water
