Why Carpet Mould Grows

Carpets absorb water readily, therefore they are the ideal environment for mold development. This way, the additional mold can grow on them without problems. Spills, too much moisture, floods, or bad weather all have the ability to let water leak into the carpet fibers and the furniture below. Once trapped, this water sets the circumstances for mildew spores to grow. Left ignored, that mold might spread outside into the environment, inside walls, and beneath. That is precisely why catching it early is so critical.

What Does a Mould Removal Company Do?

A professional mould removal company looks for the reason why moisture is present. They take out existing mould in a way and treat the area to stop it from growing back. This usually involves steps:

- First they check the affected area to see how bad the problem is.
- Then they find the source of the moisture. Fix it.
- If needed they carefully remove materials that have mould on them.
- After that they use treatments to keep mould from coming back.
- They also make sure the air quality gets better by drying things out and making sure there's good ventilation.

This kind of work is different from cleaning the surface. Professional mould remediation goes deeper to solve the root cause. That means the solution lasts longer.
